

DIENTES CIRCUIT

The Southernmost trekking on Earth is located just a few kilometers North from the Cape Horn itself, the last rock of the entire American continent before the Antarctica. This region is well known for its constant weather changes; cold, strong winds; pristine Nature and also sunny days with beautiful rainbows.

You will be surrounded by exotic wildlife which goes from insects, birds of prey, lichens and huge beech trees to the introduced beaver and its environmental impact.

The Dientes Circuit is a symbolic icon for locals and it is a real pleasure for us to guide there

Full Program's Schedule (5 days)

DAY 1

Puerto Williams – Laguna Del Salto

- After a nice breakfast we drive 10 minutes south to the end of the road where we start the trekking. The guide decides which one of the two trails is going to take to the first CAMP depending on weather conditions.
- Once on the trail the lunch time is going to be around 13:00 hrs.
- We walk South to get close to the mountain range, slowly climbing from 80mt to 500mt altitude.
- We arrive to Laguna Del Salto in the afternoon, set up CAMP 1 and then we have a free time until dinner, which will be around 19:00 hrs.

DAY 2

Laguna del Salto – Laguna Escondida

- In the morning we take a breakfast and pack CAMP 1.
- We walk through mountains and elevated lagoons with melted snow.
- Lunch on the trail around 13:00 hrs.
- We arrive to Laguna Escondida, set up CAMP 2 and have free time.
- Dinner around 19:00 hrs.

DAY 3

Laguna Escondida – Laguna Martillo

- Breakfast and packing CAMP 2.
- We walk through Ventarrón (windy) Path, into the next valley.
- Lunch on the trail around 13:00hrs.
- We arrive at Laguna Martillo (view of the Clem Linder Mayer peaks), set up CAMP 3 and have free time.
- Dinner around 19:00 hrs.

DAY 4

Laguna Martillo – Laguna Las Guanacas

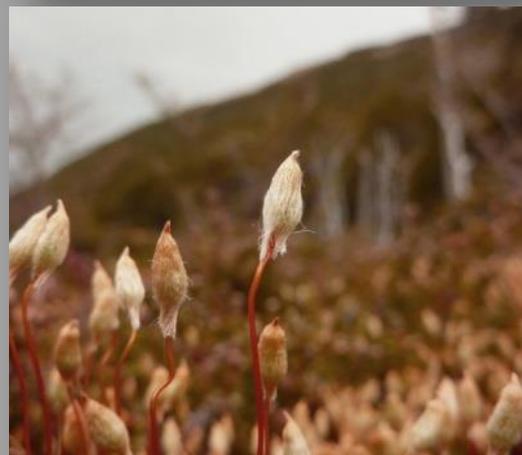

- Breakfast and packing CAMP 3.
- Lunch on the trail around 13:00hrs.
- This day we start walking North and reach the highest point of the circuit at Virginia's Path (850 – 900 mt altitude, excellent view of Tierra Del Fuego mountain range).
- We arrive to Laguna Las Guanacas in the afternoon, set up Camp 4 and have free time.
- Dinner around 19:00 hrs.

DAY 5

Laguna Las Guanacas – Puerto Williams

- Breakfast and packing CAMP 4.
- The last day of trekking ends with a short and nice walk down the trail to the island's coast line on the Beagle Channel.
- Lunch will be at the trail around 12:00 hrs.
- We arrive to the main coastal road around 13:00 – 15:00 hrs.
- A Van will be waiting to drive us back to Puerto Williams (6 miles).
- End of trekking in Puerto Williams.

In January we have daylight until 22:00 hrs.

Equipment

- In this weather we recommend a waterproof layer (jacket and pants), a middle and base layer made of synthetic breathable materials, so you can add layers if you are cold and do opposite way if you need to keep fresh (a down jacket is highly recommended); and a waterproof breathable pair of trekking or middle mountain boots (gaiters are also recommended). You also have to bring a warm-not heavy sleeping bag; a mat; warm hat; gloves; sunglasses and sun protection.
- Part of this equipment can be rented in Puerto Williams, but we recommend bringing your own - the small local store may not have enough items or sizes.
- Tents are included in the price.

Logistic

- The service includes: Food, cooking system and English spoken guiding service.
- It is important to remember that the Guide is not a “porter”, which means clients carry their own weight.
- Over 6 clients, we will have an extra guide each 6 more persons. That means, for a group of 18, we have the Expedition's guide, plus two extra guides to assist him. Our guides are WFR certified.
- The meals during the walk are breakfast; morning snacks; lunch (can be a cold meal); afternoon snacks; and a strong dinner.
- Every day you carry your personal snacks, lunch and part of the shared dinner items (fuel, food, cooking device or pot).
- You also carry your tent, sleeping bag for low temperatures, mat, First Aids kit with personal specific medication, toilette paper, bottle for water, warm hat, gloves, sunglasses, meals kit (personal pot, spoon, knife, other) and toothbrush.
- Transportation to the starting point, and back, from the same spot to Puerto Williams the next day (6 miles), is included.

Risk Management

- All decisions regarding trail's directions, camping areas, toilette areas, meal's time, starting a fire, safety, survival or potential new objectives are going to be taken by the Expedition's Guide; and any rebel action can be considered personal integrity risk for the Guide in charge and the entire journey.
